

Duke UNIVERSITY
CHAPEL

Service of Worship

Sixteenth Sunday after Pentecost
September 8, 2013
Eleven o'clock in the morning

~ Keeping the heart of the University listening to the heart of God ~

The scripture lessons this morning carry an undertone of warning. In Jeremiah, God speaks to Jeremiah using an illustration common to daily life in ancient Israel, making a clay pot. The potter can mold and shape the clay. If the potter is not satisfied, he can rework the clay into a different vessel. If Israel submits itself to the potter, it can participate in God's purposes. The gospel lesson in Luke speaks to the cost of discipleship. Allegiance to Jesus must come before all other loyalties. This commitment calls God's people to radical discipleship—to lay aside all the cares and distractions, and open their eyes instead to the vision of God.

The congregation is asked to remain silent during the prelude as a time of prayer and meditation.

In Durham, we are grateful for churches and faith communities who join together in a shared desire to seek the peace and well-being of the city. The ushers bring forward a brochure from Durham Congregations in Action.

Back Pew Collection—The Durham Literacy Center is a community based organization whose mission is to improve literacy skills. The Missions and Outreach Committee asks you to consider supporting the “Back Pew Collection” for Durham Literacy Center by donating the following items for use in classes that volunteers teach: index cards, loose leaf notebook paper, one-inch white notebooks, clear tab dividers, manila folders, hand sanitizer, dry erase markers, small bulletin boards (three-foot size), hand calculators, pens, and pencils. Donations may be left on the back pew on September 15 or 22.

Mentor a Child—There are children of refugee families from the mountains of Vietnam living just near West Campus. Because their parents have varying degrees of literacy and English, the children benefit greatly from caring tutoring and mentoring. Children range in age from second through twelfth grades. An investment of only two hours per week has the potential to change a child’s life. For more information or to volunteer, contact Stephen Harper at Sharper327@gmail.com or 919-696-8879.

Open Table Ministry—Open Table Ministry’s Bridge to Hope is an opportunity to learn more about our neighbors who live in the woods, on the streets, and in shelters. Come hear stories of transformation in their lives, faith, and the Durham community. The event will be held Saturday, September 14, from 9:00-10:30 a.m. at Duke Memorial United Methodist Church located at 504 W. Chapel Hill Street in Durham.
