BRIDGING FAITH & LEARNING

SERVICE OF WORSHIP

Seventh Sunday after Epiphany

Sunday, February 20, 2022, 11:00 a.m.

Amos Supuni, Reconciliation, ca. 1991–2008.

Jesus continues teaching from the plain in today's Gospel lesson. He challenges his disciples to live a costly love that extends beyond neighbor and friend to one's enemies. This love is rooted in the love that God has shown even to the wicked. Jesus commands those who follow him to love, do good, and be merciful, for their reward will be great as children of the Most High. The lesson from Genesis tells the story of Joseph revealing himself to his brothers after they sold him into slavery years before. Though the brothers were distressed by this revelation and feared retaliation, Joseph showed them mercy, choosing to see how God had worked for good, in spite of their bad intentions.

ENGAGE

University Prayer of Thanksgiving | Each week, we focus on a different campus unit, school, or department for whom to give thanks to God for their service and contributions to the wider university and beyond. This morning we give thanks for those who make up the staff of Religious Life at Duke.

Restrooms in Divinity School | Public restrooms are available in the Divinity School. To access them, exit the Chapel through the main front doors and enter the Divinity School. Restrooms are along the hallway in the Divinity School.

Chapel Organist Recital | Chapel Organist Christopher Jacobson, FRCO, will present a recital today at 5:00 p.m. Performing on the Aeolian organ, Jacobson will explore the theme of “Time,” and how we as humanity perceive and experience it. Jean-Baptiste Robin’s “The Hands of Time,” written for the 2018 National Convention of the American Guild of Organists, and Camille Saint-Saëns’s famous “Maestoso” from Symphony No. 3 will be featured alongside music of Bach, Vierne, and Bolcom. Admission is free.

Visual Art Exhibition Explores ‘Complicated Truths’ of Life | An interactive visual art exhibition at the Chapel invites viewers to consider complicated truths in life for which there are no easy solutions. Presented by the Chapel and the Everything Happens Project, Reliquary of Complicated Truths by multidisciplinary artist Lanecia Rouse Tinsley is an installation created from discarded wood, paper, and other material that invites viewers to place within the cracks of the work their response to the prompt “In my life, there is no cure for....” The commissioned exhibition takes its inspiration from the book by Duke Divinity School Professor Kate Bowler, No Cure for Being Human (And Other Truths I Need to Hear). Tinsley and Professor Bowler will hold a public conversation about themes in the exhibition on Thursday, February 24, from 5:30–6:45 p.m. in Duke Chapel. Learn more at chapel.duke.edu/reliquary.

Interfaith Series on Deep Roots of Spiritual Practices | The final talk will be by Chaplain Francesca Morfesis, with the Buddhist Meditation Community at Duke, this Thursday, February 24, from 12:30–1:30 p.m. in the Chaplin Family Study Room in the Brodhead Center. She will discuss “Mindfulness and Buddhism.” Preregistration is encouraged.

The Value of Home: Stewardship for Affordable Housing | Please join a seminar on “The Value of Home: Stewardship for Affordable Housing” on Saturday, February 26, from 10:00 a.m. to 12-noon by Zoom. The seminar will explore the challenges and opportunities facing civic and faith communities as they seek to respond to the intersectional crisis of health, housing, and equity. The leader of the seminar will be Terry Allebaugh, who has over thirty years of experience as a local, state, and national leader on policy and practice around ending homelessness. For additional information, please contact congregation@duke.edu.

SBSB and UP Concert | Join Duke undergraduate groups Something Borrowed Something Blue (SBSB) and United in Praise (UP) for an afternoon of free music and worship on Saturday, February 26, at 3:00 pm in Nelson Music Room. The Nelson Music Room is located in the East Duke Building on East Campus.

Evensong Singers Concert | The stirring words and imagery of seventeenth-century poets John Milton and John Donne have inspired composers for three hundred years to write some of their finest music. Sung by the Evensong Singers next Sunday, February 27, at 4:00 p.m., this concert, “Poetry in Music,” will explore profound historic and modern poetry set to music by composers including Hubert Parry, William Harris, Stephanie Martin, and William Walton. The program will also feature the world premiere of Te Deum and Jubilate by British composer Joanna Marsh. Admission is free.

New Minister for Intercultural Engagement | The Chapel welcomes the Rev. Racquel C. N. Gill as its new Minister for Intercultural Engagement, beginning March 1. In her role, Rev. Gill will offer spiritual guidance, mentorship, care, and programming to students, particularly students of color, at Duke and also deepen relationships between the Chapel and campus cultural and identity centers. Rev. Gill comes to Duke Chapel from Presbyterian College in Clinton, South Carolina, where she is the endowed Jack and Jane Presseau Associate Chaplain and also serves as a temporary member at large and pulpit supply minister for the Trinity Presbytery.

Ash Wednesday Services | This year, the Chapel will observe Ash Wednesday, March 2, with services at 8:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. During both services, ministers will mark those who attend with ashes as a reminder that “we are dust, and to dust we shall return.” At the 7:00 p.m. service, the Vespers Ensemble and Chapel Choir will lead the music.

Lenten Book Groups | Starting on Wednesday, March 2, two book groups will discuss Be the Bridge: Pursuing God’s Heart for Racial Reconciliation by Latasha Morrison. With prayers, discussion questions, and other resources, this book presents a compelling vision of what it means for every follower of Jesus to become a bridge builder. Book groups will meet by Zoom at 10:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. for the five Wednesdays in March. Please contact congregation@duke.edu for the Zoom links.

There is no cost to attend the two concerts, but free tickets from the Duke Box Office are required for admittance.
