Service of Worship

Fourteenth Sunday after Pentecost
September 10, 2017
Eleven o'clock in the morning

In this morning's Gospel reading, Jesus promises to be with even just two or three people when they are gathered in his name. Jesus also teaches how conflict is to be resolved in the church, while revealing the awesome authority given to his disciples. The reading from Exodus reminds us that as we gather at the Communion table, we give thanks to God for the fulfilment of the ancient promises of the Passover meal through Jesus Christ. Jesus became the sacrificial Lamb of God that we might pass over from death into eternal life through faith in him.

The Chapel welcomes families with children; if at any time during the service your child needs a place for active play, please know there is a nursery in the Chapel basement. On this Communion Sunday, families with children are invited to sit up front, so they can better observe The Great Thanksgiving.

The congregation is invited to reflect silently during the prelude as a time of prayer and meditation.

COMMUNION ANTHEM

Draw Us in the Spirit's Tether

Harold Friedell
(1905–1958)

Draw us in the Spirit's tether; for when humbly, in thy name,
Two or three are met together, thou art in the midst of them:
Alleluia! Alleluia! Touch we now thy garment's hem.

As the brethren used to gather in the name of Christ to sup,
Then with thanks to God the Father break the bread and bless the cup: Alleluia! Alleluia! So knit thou our friendship up.

All our meals and all our living make as sacraments of thee,
That by caring, helping, giving, we may true disciples be.
Alleluia! Alleluia! We will serve thee faithfully.

MEET THE CHAPEL'S NEW COMMUNITY MINISTRY OUTREACH COORDINATOR AND DIVINITY INTERNS

COMMUNITY MINISTRY OUTREACH COORDINATOR—Breana van Velzen is an ordained Baptist minister and holds a master of divinity from Duke Divinity School. She also holds a master of social work degree from UNC-Chapel

Hill and a bachelor of arts in English education from UNC-Wilmington. Her passions include advocacy at the intersections of racial, economic, and environmental justice, and hospitality. These passions led her to work in faith-based advocacy, financial coaching, affordable housing, and immigration reform. While in divinity school, Breana was involved in Project BriDDDge, which orients new Duke Divinity School students to the history and community of Durham. As a result, she was involved in Reality Ministries, Community Empowerment Fund, Families Moving Forward, the Unlocking Doors Initiative, Refugee Wellness, and several other organizations. Breana's experiences living in an intentional community in Wilmington, North Carolina, deeply shaped her approach in community ministry as relational and person-centered. As a former English teacher in coastal North Carolina, she loves working with students of all ages and writing creatively. When she is not volunteering or traveling, she enjoys slam poetry, science fiction, and nature walks in her free time. Breana loves stories and is always willing to listen or share in storytelling. In her new role, she will be working to strengthen the Chapel's community-focused ministries. As part of the community ministry team, she will help deepen and create new relationships with people working for equity and justice in the West End neighborhood and throughout Durham. In all her work, Breana will strive to enhance the Chapel's status as a voice of moral conscience for the university, the wider community, and the church.

CHAPEL WORSHIP INTERN—Keegan Cheleden is from Pasadena, California (the Rose parade actually goes right by her family's house).

She earned her bachelor's in communication studies from Biola University and is currently pursuing her master's of divinity and social work at Duke and UNC-Chapel Hill. What she will do with those degrees is yet to be determined, but she imagines it will have something to do with hospice care. When she is not at the Chapel, you can most likely find her cheering on Duke teams in Cameron Indoor or at Wallace Wade Stadium. She loves Duke and still cannot get over the fact that she gets to intern at the Chapel!

CONGREGATION AT DUKE CHAPEL INTERN—Denise Noble is serving as a Divinity

School intern for the Congregation during the 2017–2018 academic year. Denise, who is a member of White Memorial Presbyterian Church in Raleigh, is starting her third year of Duke Divinity School this fall. Denise is a graduate of Meredith College where she earned a bachelor of arts in psychology and of UNC-Chapel Hill School of Law. For 20 years, she has practiced law within the pharmaceutical industry, particularly in the area of contracts. In recent years, Denise has discerned God calling her into ordained ministry within the Presbyterian Church (USA). This is the second year Denise will be with the Congregation, and she looks forward with enthusiasm to her deepening relationships within the Congregation. Denise will be teaching a Sunday morning Bible study, facilitate a Circle of Support with Families Moving Forward, and engage in other pastoral ministries.
