UNIVERSITY
CHAPEL

Service of Worship

Fifth Sunday of Easter
April 24, 2016, Page Auditorium
Eleven o'clock in the morning

∞ Bridging Faith and Learning ∞

"St. Peter Preaching," by Masaccio, ca. 1424.

In today's Scripture readings, we see the Apostle Peter reporting to the church in Jerusalem his extraordinary vision from the Lord and the command to lay down distinctions between Jews and Gentiles. Through this Peter points to the reconciling love of Christ and shows how Christians can disagree lovingly. In John's Gospel, Jesus says that those who follow him must be known for their love for one another. This love is unafraid to follow wherever the Lord goes and is a love that encompasses all of creation—to the praise and glory of God.

At the close of today's service, the Lord's Supper will be celebrated in Page Auditorium by the seats at the front left of the stage, in front of the organ. Immediately following Communion, a service of prayer for healing will be held in the same location. The service consists of prayers for healing and wholeness with anointing and laying on of hands. All are invited.

During the prelude the congregation is asked to remain prayerfully or meditatively silent. The Chapel welcomes families with children; if at any time during the service your child needs a place for active play, please utilize the nursery in the Box Office on the second floor of Page.

PRAYERS FOR THE WEEK

This morning we give thanks for the Duke University Libraries. We celebrate its commitment to provide to the university and the larger community a place for self-education and discovery, preserve in perpetuity the accumulated knowledge of people of all cultures and viewpoints, and promote scholarship and the creation of new ideas.

In Durham we pray for the people who bring food to us, especially for farmworkers, food service workers, and the people within local ministries who seek to be mindful of the principles of sustainable agriculture.
