

Duke UNIVERSITY
CHAPEL

Service of Worship

Thirteenth Sunday after Pentecost

August 18, 2013

Eleven o'clock in the morning

œ Keeping the heart of the University listening to the heart of God œ

Today's scripture lessons reveal God's anger over the waywardness of the people of God. Isaiah describes the relationship of God to Israel by using the image of a vineyard—the owner lovingly nurtures and labors over the vineyard, only to have the land yield wild grapes. God hopes for his people to bear fruit, but the fruit is rotten. The parable is followed by images of destruction and loss of protection as a result of God's grief. The lesson in Luke is also replete with images of strife and division. Jesus expects complete allegiance, and he speaks to the cost of such discipleship while also redefining the contours of family. For Christians, baptism is the new mark of family.

The congregation is asked to remain silent during the prelude as a time of prayer and meditation.

Most merciful God, we confess that we have sinned against you in thought, word, and deed, by what we have done, and by what we have left undone. For the sake of your Son Jesus Christ, have mercy on us and forgive us; that we may delight in your will, and walk in your ways, to the glory of your name. Amen.

The minister speaks words of assurance.

This morning we give thanks for for those who make up the staff of Religious Life at Duke. We celebrate their nurturing of students in ways of faith, reflection, and service. A representative brings a copy of the Religious Life brochure to the altar.

In Durham we remember those who are victims of predatory lending and those who have crippling debt. The ushers bring forward a checkbook.

SHARING OF THE BREAD AND WINE

All those who have become members of Christ's body through baptism and seek to be united with God and at peace with their neighbor are invited to receive communion. Wine is used for communion. If you would prefer to receive grape juice, it is available upon request at the communion station near the main entrance of the Chapel, on the pulpit side. If you have a gluten allergy, those serving communion nearest to the Memorial Chapel will be ready to serve you gluten-free wafers and wine on request. If you do not plan to receive communion, you may come forward to receive a blessing, indicated by crossing your arms over your chest.

If you would like to receive individual anointing with oil and prayers for healing, ministers will be in the Memorial Chapel during communion.
