SERVICE OF WORSHIP

Holy Cross Day

Sunday, September 14, 2025, 11:00 a.m.

Jan Witdoek, The Elevation of the Cross, 17th c.

Today's worship service recognizes the Feast of the Holy Cross, or Holy Cross Day. This annual Christian feast, observed on September 14, commemorates the True Cross, or the real cross on which Jesus was crucified. This feast is also one of the few days of the church calendar when the liturgical color is red, a color used to signify both the fire of the Holy Spirit, as well as the blood of Christ and the saints and martyrs, constantly renewing the church. The Feast of the Holy Cross celebrates the cross as a sign of salvation through Christ's triumph over sin and death. So sings the sixth-century hymn by Venantius Fortunatus on which today's prelude is based: "Faithful cross, true sign of triumph, be for all the noblest tree; none in foliage, none in blossom, none in fruit your equal be; symbol of the world's redemption, for your burden makes us free." The theme of the cross is reflected throughout today's music, scripture readings, and sermon.

In the cross, in the cross, be my glory ever,

An Asaph maskil

Give ear, O my people, | to my teaching,
incline your ear to the words | of my mouth.

I will open my mouth with a | parable,
utter profound sayings from | long ago.

Even as He killed them, | they beseeched Him;
they turned | and sought God.

Then they remembered that God | was their rock,
God Most High | their redeemer.

They flattered Him | with their mouths,
and with their tongues | lied to Him.

Their heart was not | steadfast with Him,
and they were not faithful | in His covenant.

But He being merciful would forgive their wrongdoing and | not destroy.
Often He restrained His anger and did not vent | all His wrath.

God So Loved the World

John Stainer
(1840–1901)

God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whoso believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.
For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world;
but that the world through him might be saved.

God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son,
that whoso believeth in him should not perish,
but have everlasting life.

God so loved the world.

—John 3:16–17
