This morning’s Scripture readings speak of waiting for God, longing for justice, and how we should respond to the Lord. The prophet Habakkuk laments his vocation to see the world’s sin, while questioning God’s apparent absence. God responds personally and with power, declaring the Lord’s sovereignty and calling Habakkuk to be patient. In Luke’s Gospel, a rich tax collector called Zacchaeus is desperate to see Jesus. Jesus notices Zacchaeus and asks to go to his home, causing consternation among the crowd. Zacchaeus places his faith in Jesus, and promises to give away his wealth to those he has defrauded. God is speaking to us today, and invites us into loving relationship through faith in Jesus.

The congregation is invited to reflect silently during the prelude as a time of prayer and meditation. The Chapel welcomes families with children. If at any time during the service your child needs a place for active play, please know there is a nursery in the Chapel basement.

LEARNING THE LITURGY OF THE CHAPEL

By the mysterious work of the Holy Spirit, the sermon is the Word of God to the community of faith. Each preacher strives to connect the stories and truths of the Bible to our daily lives, offering us the good news of Jesus Christ. Each worshiper is called to listen to the message with openness and faith. Ultimately, however, the sermon is more than preacher and listener, as the Holy Spirit uses the sermon to speak to our hearts and minds. If you discuss the sermon with others, don't be surprised if individuals find meaning in different parts of the sermon. That is the Spirit at work.

Chapel Dean Luke Powery will preside at the service, which includes Scripture, a literary reading, and three prayer stations. The Chapel's C. Eric Lincoln Minister Joshua Lazard is the service's liturgist.

NEW INTERFAITH PROGRAM FOR STUDENTS—The Chapel's new Interreligious Scholars Program (ISP) helps students build relationships with people of other faith traditions and prepare them for working together for the common good. Learn more and apply at chapel.duke.edu/interfaith.

DUKE UNIVERSITY CHAPEL

Duke Chapel is a Christian church of an unusually interdenominational character, with a tradition of stirring music, preaching, and liturgy. It is also a grand building, suitable for hosting major events in the life of the University and its members; it further acts as a moderator for the diversity of religious identity and expression on campus. We welcome you to our life of worship, learning, dialogue, and service.
