Today the Chapel celebrates World Communion Sunday with Christians throughout the world, remembering our common faith. World Communion Sunday began in the 1930s in the United States as a way to reflect on our global communion with Christians near and far. In honor of World Communion Sunday, the 1 Corinthians lesson is read by students across the United States and the world, the altar frontal and the ministers’s stoles represent areas across the globe, and the music comes from various parts of the world. The service reminds us of the body, which comes together in Christ and is not separated by differences of nation, tribe, or tongue.

Here, O Lord, Your Servants Gather

*Prayer of Confession and Words of Assurance | In unison.

Most merciful God, we confess that we have sinned against you in thought, word, and deed, by what we have done, and by what we have left undone. We have not loved you with our whole heart; we have not loved our neighbors as ourselves. We are truly sorry and we humbly repent. For the sake of your Son Jesus Christ, have mercy on us and forgive us; that we may delight in your will, and walk in your ways, to the glory of your name. Amen.

The minister speaks words of assurance.

*Greeting of Peace | All exchange signs and words of God’s peace.

Minister: The Peace of Christ be with you.

God's Got the Whole World

Text: Traditional spiritual; adapt Mark A. Miller

God’s got the whole world,
God’s got the whole world,
God’s got the whole world in God’s hands.
God’s got the whole world,
the whole world in God’s hands.

God has you and me,
God has you and me,
God’s got you and me in those hands,
God’s got the whole world, the whole world,
God’s got the whole world in God’s hands.

Text: Traditional spiritual; adapt Mark A. Miller

Offertory Anthem

How Happy Are Thy Servants, Lord

How happy are thy servants, Lord, who thus remember thee!
What tongue can tell our sweet accord, our perfect harmony?
Who thy mysterious supper share, here at thy table fed,
Many, and yet but one are we, one undivided bread.

One with the living bread divine which now by faith we eat,
Our hearts and minds and spirits join, and all in Jesus meet.
So dear the tie where souls agree in Jesus' dying love!
Then only can it closer be, when all are joined above!

Text: Charles Wesley (1707–1788)

*Doxology

Praise God from whom all blessings flow;
Praise God, all creatures here below; Alleluia, Alleluia!
Praise God above, ye heavenly host,
Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia.

Thanksgiving and Holy Communion

People: We lift them to the Lord.

Minister: Let us give thanks to the Lord our God.
People: It is right to give our thanks and praise.

MUSIC ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

PARTICIPATING IN COMMUNION TODAY

Today, October 4, is World Communion Sunday, which we are observing during this online worship service. This is our first celebration of communion since March, when the pandemic changed our gathering patterns. All worshipers are invited to provide their own communion elements at home and to watch the service online or listen on the radio. During the service, the minister will prompt you when to partake of communion. If you would like to participate, please prepare your own bread and cup and have it ready for the service.

TODAY’S MUSIC

On World Communion Sunday, we make explicit what is normally implicit: Sacred music draws upon the breadth of Christian traditions, across time and around the globe. The hymns, anthems, and instrumental voluntaries regularly featured in worship at Duke Chapel bind us together with the whole church in every time and place. This morning’s musical selections spans five centuries (the 17th through the 21st) and six countries across five continents—Italy, Japan, South Africa, the United States, Argentina, and Germany. We give thanks to God for the gift of this musical diversity, and rejoice in the ways that the church’s song draws us together into community.

DEAN’S VIRTUAL TOWN HALL | Chapel Dean Luke A. Powery will address connections among lament, justice, and hope in an online event “Called to Hope” on Thursday, October 8, at 7:00 p.m. This live, interactive event will include a time of question-and-answer. Learn more at chapel.duke.edu/hope.

CHAPEL SCHOLAR APPLICATIONS DUE TOMORROW | Undergraduate students are invited to nurture their intellectual, ethical, and spiritual life as Chapel Scholars. SACRED ON SATURDAY | In a series of three Saturday morning online presentations, Dr. Philip Cave, associate conductor for Chapel music, will explore some remarkable pieces of sacred music. The presentations will place the music in its context, and examine its construction and musical language, so as to enrich the listener’s experience of it. The first session is Saturday, October 10, at 10:00 a.m., and will focus on expressions of public and private lamentation with music from Thomas Tallis, Josquin des Prez, Marc-Antoine Charpentier, Heinrich Schütz, G.F. Handel, and others. Find details on the Chapel website.

NOMINATIONS FOR HUMANITARIAN SERVICE AWARD | The Chapel is now accepting nominations for its Humanitarian Service Award, which aims to recognize individuals with a commitment to service and simplicity. The award is inspired by the lives of two Duke professors: Dr. George R. Parkerson, Jr. and the late Dr. C. Eric Lincoln. The recipient of the award is honored with a grant of up to $3,000 given to the nonprofit they designate. You are invited to submit a nomination by November 13 by using this form. Here, O Lord, Your Servants Gather

1. Here, O Lord, your servants gather, hand we link with hand;
2. Many are the tongues we speak, scattered are the lands,
4. Grant, O God, an age renewed, filled with deathless love;

look - ing toward our Saviour’s cross, joined in love we stand.
yet our hearts are one in God, one in love’s demands.
Where, oh where, can weary souls find the source of peace?
help us as we work and pray, send us from above

As we seek the realm of God, we unite to pray:
E’en in darkness hope appears, calling age and youth:
Unto all those sore distressed, torn by endless strife:
thought and courage, faith and power, needed in our strife:

Je - sus, Saviour, guide our steps, for you are the Way.
Je - sus, teacher, dwell with us, for you are the Truth.
Je - sus, healer, bring your balm, for you are the Life.
Je - sus, Master, be our Way, be our Truth, our Life.
Now We Join in Celebration

1 Now we join in celebration at our Savior’s invitation, dressed no more in spirit somber, clothed instead in joy and wonder;
for the Lord of all existence, putting off divine transcendence, stoops again in love to meet us, with his very life to feed us.

2 Lord, as round this feast we gather, fill our hearts with holy rapture!
For this bread and cup of blessing are for us the sure possessing of your loving deed on Calvary, of your living self, our victory, pledge of your unfaithing presence, foretaste here of heav’nly gladness.

3 Lord, we share in this communion as one family of God’s children, our brother, one in you with God our Father.
Seeking justice, love, and mercy till you come in final glory.
