BRIDGING FAITH & LEARNING

SERVICE OF WORSHIP
Twentieth Sunday after Pentecost
Sunday, October 23, 2022, 11:00 a.m.

Frank Wesley, The Publican and the Pharisee, 20th century.

Jesus tells a parable in today's Gospel lesson from Luke. The scene is the temple, where two men are praying. The first man gives thanks to God for his self-perceived superiority over others. He boasts about his righteousness, which is surely great compared to a second man he sees praying. The second man, a tax collector, bows low as he humbly prays for mercy. In the end, Jesus praises the humble sinner and warns that those who exalt themselves will be humbled. In the epistle reading, the author assumes a humble posture, recognizing and giving thanks to God for the strength that sustained him and the rescue that comes from the Lord.

Psalmody

O How Amiable

Ralph Vaughan Williams
(1872–1958)

O how amiable are thy dwellings, thou LORD of hosts!
My soul hath a desire and longing
to enter into the courts of the LORD.
My heart and my flesh rejoice in the living God.
Yea, the sparrow hath found her a house
and the swallow a nest where she may lay her young:
Even thy altars, O LORD of hosts, my King and my God.
Blessed are they that dwell in thy house. They will be always praising thee.
The glorious majesty of the LORD our God be upon us;
prosper thou the work of our hands upon us.
O prosper thou our handiwork.

O God, our help in ages past, our hope for years to come,
our shelter from the stormy blast, and our eternal home.

—Psalms 84:1–4 and 90:17; Isaac Watts

*Gospel Lesson | NT page 76 in pew Bibles.

Lord, guide my feet, direct my path, and keep my way.
Can't make a step without you.
I don't want to run this race in vain.

Be my friend while I run this race...

Stand by me while I run this race...

Give us this day our daily bread.
And forgive us our trespasses,
as we forgive those who trespass against us.
And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever.
Amen.

How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds

Humanitarian Service Award Reception Today | The Chapel is honoring two Durham community leaders who work to feed people in need. Drew Woten, assistant director of Open Table Ministry, and Jacquelyn Blackwell, volunteer executive director of Feed My Sheep of Durham, Inc., are receiving the Chapel's Humanitarian Service Award. The award will be presented to Woten and Blackwell at a reception today at 2:00 p.m. in the Alumni Memorial Commons Room in Duke Divinity School. The event is free and open to the public.

Window Restoration Work | Work to restore the Chapel's stained-glass windows has resumed. This round of work is scheduled to last until mid-November and will be on windows in the main entryway (narthex) and also in Memorial Chapel. Both Memorial Chapel and the crypt will be closed during this time; the front doors and narthex will be unavailable during weekday business hours. To volunteer, please contact congregation@duke.edu.

Workshop on Prayer This Saturday | Simple practices can lead to profound impact. This is the case for many who use the Examen Prayer, a five-step daily reflection. The prayer helps individuals recognize God's presence in the activities of life to discover where God may be leading them and to identify the spiritual growth God desires. All are invited to attend a workshop on "The Examen Prayer: A Daily Reflection on God's Presence" to be held on Saturday, October 29, from 9:30 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of Trinity Avenue Presbyterian Church in Durham. Mark Shaw, pastoral assistant for spiritual formation for the Congregation and an experienced spiritual director, will lead the workshop. For detailed information and to register, please contact congregation@duke.edu.

You're Preaching Speaking To The Choir! | Do you have a burning question for the Duke Chapel Choir? Have you ever wondered how often they practice? What some of their favorite hymns are? Do the robes have pockets? Inquiring minds want to know! Come and hear the stories of our Choir members after worship on October 30. Meet in the lounge in the lower level of the Chapel for food, drinks, and time for great conversation.

Guest Preacher Next Sunday | In our Sunday morning service next week, we welcome as our guest preacher Dr. J. Ross Wagner, associate professor of New Testament at Duke Divinity School. Specializing in Paul's letters and in Septuagint studies, Professor Wagner seeks to contribute to the recovery of theological exegesis through careful investigation of the ways scriptural interpretation shaped early Jewish and Christian communities. A United Methodist, his most recent book is Reading the Sealed Book: Old Greek Isaiah and the Problem of Septuagint Hermeneutics.

Choral Evensong Next Sunday | The Chapel's next Choral Evensong worship service will be held next Sunday, October 30, at 4:00 p.m. Evensong is a historic liturgy derived from Vespers and Compline, ancient monastic prayer services of the Christian church. Evensong at the Chapel follows the Book of Common Prayer.

All Hallows' Eve and All Saints' Requiem Eucharist Services | The Chapel's All Hallows' Eve service on Monday, October 31, at 10:30 p.m. is a festival Eucharist service that recalls the faith and witness of those who have carried on and cherished the Christian faith throughout history. The service celebrates the Church's continuing communion with these men and women and memorializes the recently deceased. It comprises scripture readings, testimonies about saints, and anthems. The next day, Tuesday, November 1, at 7:00 p.m., there will be an All Saints' Requiem Eucharist featuring the rarely heard Requiem setting by the twentieth-century French composer Alfred Desenclos.

Opportunities Fair | New and returning volunteers are needed. After worship on Sunday, November 6, plan to stop by the tables outside in front of the Chapel, to discover ways to be involved in the life and ministry of the Congregation and Chapel. Opportunities include participation in service projects, study groups, fellowship events, committee work, and Sunday morning services. Representatives of each volunteer opportunity will be available for conversation.

Organ Recital | Monica Czausz Berney will give the next performance in the Organ Recital Series on Sunday, November 6, at 5:00 p.m. Berney is the director of music and artistic ministries at King of Glory Lutheran Church in Dallas, Texas.
